The United States Postal Service

comprises over 630,000 employees. The agency is a critical part of the nation's infrastructure and supports our democracy by delivering election ballots to and from customers. And when natural disasters strike, postal employees are welcome sights, delivering vital supplies and mail.

But who takes care of Postal Service employees who also are victims of natural disasters? Fellow postal employees!

The Postal Employees' Relief Fund (PERF) exists to help active and retired postal employees—management and craft—whose homes are completely destroyed or left uninhabitable as a result of a natural disaster, displacing postal employees and their families for an extended period of time.

The fund provides small relief grants to help qualifying victims of such circumstances reestablish residences and help replenish basic necessities in the aftermath of a devastating loss. An example is the retired Arkansas postmaster and her husband who saw their home and most of their belongings destroyed in a 2021 tornado.

She always had contributed to PERF, but never thought she, too, would need the fund. She completed the application, provided all the required information and, within five weeks, received a check. "That 'relief' check was a blessing," she said. "And made possible because of generous postal employees. Contributing to PERF is easy and very much appreciated by postal employees who have suffered a loss."

PERF receives the majority of its contributions through payroll deductions authorized by postal employees and other federal employees during the annual Combined Federal Campaign (CFC). PERF also receives group and individual contributions by check or money order sent directly to the fund and by credit card via the fund's website.

PERF stands ready to provide assistance to those impacted by natural disasters. Please make a contribution to help your fellow postal family members.
